That these are "secrets" of the garden implies that it is a place for children to explore and discover. The book covers ecology, the seasonal cycle, food chains and food webs, the different parts of vegetables we eat, composting, how people are part of it all and sharing a summer home (the garden) with animal neighbors.

The setup of the book is that a small child hides in the bushes and observes what is happening in the garden: bugs eat plants, spider eats bugs, bird eats spider, cat eats bird. Many of the pictures are from the ground level perspective. At the end there is a food web illustration showing the complexity of the garden ecosystem.
